

SPOT

How on earth has he managed to end up there, they are always incessantly asking, as indeed he continually keeps asking himself, since his whole life has been devoted to the task of avoiding ending up anywhere at all and especially ending up in the kind of place which would allow someone, anyone, himself included even, to ask how on earth he had managed to end up living in a place like that, the very same place in fact where he now is?